with guest speaker

J.C. WATTS

J.C. Watts

From football hero to his remarkable eight years as one of the most recognizable members of Congress, J. C. Watts is an embodiment of the American dream. An outstanding quarterback who led the University of Oklahoma Sooners to two Orange Bowl victories and later committed himself to helping his community as an ordained minister. Watts is admired by many for his integrity and strong leadership. After serving four years on the Oklahoma Corporation Commission, Watts was elected in 1994 to serve Oklahoma's 4th Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives. He was honorary co-chairman of the 2000 Republican National Convention and is a passionate voice for boosting national security, adhering to fiscal discipline and investing in education. Watts is founder and chairman of the J. C. Watts Company based in Washington, D.C. He is the author of What Color Is Conservative? My Life and My Politics.
